NOTES

The pottery began operating in 1857 as "William Young & Co.", and in 1858 as "William Young & Sons" (Harney 1929).

Detailed history provided in Hunter Research, Inc. 2005:4-8.

"Another great pottery was the Willits [sic] Manufacturing Company, founded in 1853 by William Young and his sons. It was one of the largest firms in the East, producing not only sanitary earthenware, but quantities of white and decorated pottery, white granite and a superior art porcelain, as well as eggshell ware" (Wall n.d.:7).
